

Assessing Vocational Achievement: Level 3

Overview

If you are interested in a career in helping others to achieve their full potential, by offering assessment and feedback, the Certificate in Assessing Vocational Achievement is the right course for you. Beyond understanding what an assessment is, and how to plan for one, this course will also help you learn how to practically carry out an evaluation, how to manage information, offer feedback in the follow-up, while observing legal and regulatory requirements.

Who should study this course?

This course is suitable for anyone looking to assess vocational competencies for a wide range of qualifications, such as:

- Apprenticeships
- Functional skills
- Technical Certificates
- NVQs
- Awards or Diplomas

Am I required to do a placement?

To successfully achieve qualified status as an assessor you will need to have a work placement in a suitable environment. Your tutor will be able to provide guidance regarding the type of placement required.

What happens after the course?

Once you successfully complete this course you will know how to use assessment methods, and how to apply them, in vocational and training environments, to help students gain insights on their progress. By the end of the qualification you will be able to find work assessing learners in college as well as work-based settings.

This is a practical-based qualification intended for those who assess both occupational competence in the workplace and skills and knowledge in other environments including the classroom, workshop or other training environments.

Entry onto this course will require a learner to have full competence in the vocational subject area that you will be assessing and you will need access to a cohort of learners so you can gather evidence of real assessments.
